Ponderings

Pisces is mutable water - flexible free flowing changing water. Pisces’ natural place is the great unconscious mind which is why it is the natural ruler of the 12th house - the house of the collective unconscious. The collective unconscious is the great oceanic reservoir which contains all the hidden treasures of humanity’s unconsciousness ranging from the terrifying to the divinely beautiful. It contains our deepest fears wants longings and desires. This connection to the unconscious gives to people with Pisces strongly emphasized in their chart, an extremely empathic, sensitive, feeling/psychic apparatus but can also mean an attraction to negative waters like alcohol and drugs to manage these sensitivities.

The effects of trauma individually, can weaken the barrier to the unconscious and the unconscious material that emerges can lead a person into overwhelm and panic. Collectively when we experience trauma such as large bushfires, earthquakes, wars and pandemics such as COVID-19, the barrier to the collective unconscious can also weaken and collectively we can experience overwhelming thoughts, feelings of despair, disheartenment or frightening dreams and images.

One of our spiritual challenges is how to clear/manage the unconscious individually and collectively. Nature shows us the way. The vast oceans of our Earth, when heated by the sun, evaporate and are dispersed by winds ending up stored in the clouds which hold this until it can be released on us a clearing rain. Provided we don't pollute Nature's process, this rain is pure and cleansing.

The sun in us is our soul or spirit. So when we heat the waters of our emotions and unconscious life with sun of our soul we can expand and lift the heaviness of our waters into the mind and soul. Then when we want to create something beautiful and true on this Earth, we can release the purified waters of our heart mind and soul and precipitate them onto the earth. The seed thoughts within our spiritual rain blesses and transforms the Earth.

In this way the great unconscious can be purified, and humanity can progress. If you look at the Piscean image of the two fishes above you can see one fish is moving upwards, being lifted by the magnet of the sun. The other stays within the magnetic allure of the earthly waters.

Let us find interesting ways to develop this alchemical process and to 'save' the world, thus fulfilling the Piscean goal to be a world saviour. I look forward to talking with you more about this should you decide to come to this next Full Moon celebration.

Love in the higher waters Janet
